Nathan J. Laube is a rising star among young classical musicians and has quickly become a popular artist on the organ recital circuit. His brilliant playing, audience-friendly programs, and gracious demeanor have thrilled audiences and presenters across the United States and in Europe. Although Nathan's vast repertoire spans the works of pre-Baroque to living composers, he has become known for his colorful and virtuoso transcriptions of orchestral works by Bach, Mahler, Rossini, and Strauss.

A MESSAGE FROM THE DEAN

Hi! This is your elected-sub-dean-suddenly-become-dean! At our installation meeting in September, I warned Chris not to get any ideas about my becoming Dean. Next thing I knew, poof!, he's off to a new job in Maryland. While I do wish him well, I'm left thinking, "How did I let this happen?" So, hang on to your organ benches, and away we go! More later..

Clarice Stegall, Dean

Updates on our Members

As of the November 2010 chapter meeting, Francis Stone will have been a member of the Indianapolis Chapter for fifty years. Francis is not a musician, but he genuinely appreciates pipe organs and organ music. He certainly appreciates the outstanding Indianapolis AGO Chapter, and many friends throughout the years.

Chris Schroeder, recently accepted the position of Music Director at Towson Presbyterian Church, Towson (Baltimore), Maryland.
